After achieving co-sell-ready status, there are three more requirements to achieve Azure IP co-sell incentive status:

- Requirement 1: Reach the required revenue threshold. At the organization level, generate at least USD100,000 of Azure Consumed Revenue over the trailing 12-month period. This threshold can be reached with a combination of Azure solutions. If the offer is transactable in the commercial marketplace, you can meet this requirement by meeting a billed revenue threshold of USD100,000 over the trailing 12-month period.
- Requirement 2: Pass the Microsoft technical validation for an Azure-based solution. A technical validation must confirm that more than 50% of your offer's infrastructure uses repeatable IP code on Azure. (Transactable Azure VMs and Azure application solutions on the commercial marketplace meet this requirement by default.)
- Requirement 3: Provide a reference architecture diagram. Upload a reference architecture diagram with your co-sell documents in Partner Center for review. For guidance on creating this diagram, see Reference architecture diagram . For information about uploading the diagram, see Configure co-sell for a commercial marketplace offer .
- Requirement 4: Offer Transactability on marketplace. Effective July 1, 2023, your new offers (aka solutions) should be transactable on Azure marketplace. This condition is applicable only to get IP co-sell eligible status.

Add problem summary and description using these templates:

Problem summary: {Company Name}'s IP-cosell verification has been rejected due to the indication that billed sales are below $100,000. However, we can confirm that we have achieved more than $100K in billed sales through the Microsoft Commercial Marketplace. The attached screenshot(s) provide evidence of the billed revenue exceeding the required threshold.

We request escalation to review and verify the billed sales data to ensure proper recognition and approval of the IP-coselle verification.Description: Please reassess and validate the IP-cosell verification based on the attached proof of billed sales exceeding $100K in the Microsoft Marketplace. Once verified, we request that the IP-cosell verification status be updated to approved.
