● Select the "Resource Group" into which the SaaS subscription's resource will be deployed

FAQ at this stage:

- Which Resource Group should I deploy into?
- Answer: I would advise creating a new one named "MarketplacePurchases". This is where you'll find all your apps procured through Marketplace.
- Why did Azure create a 'SaaS resource' if the application isn't running in my Azure account?
- Answer: The reason Azure creates SaaS resources is to ease transactions with the product. In other words, you'll find all the transaction information about one product by clicking on the SaaS resource. You will also be able to cancel/change or deactivate the renewal of the subscription clicking on that resource.

- Resource group location ?

- Answer: the "Resource group location" only determines where the resource group's metadata is stored in Azure. Azure requires every resource group to have a region, so the field is mandatory even when it's irrelevant.
- What it's not: it has nothing to do with where the SaaS software runs. A SaaS subscription is just a billing/entitlement record in the customer's Azure environment – the actual application runs on the publisher's own infrastructure (in this case, wherever WeTransact hosts). Choosing East US vs West Europe doesn't move any data, change performance, or affect pricing.
- Data residency: if a customer raises residency concerns at this step, the answer is that this field is cosmetic for SaaS. Where their data lives is determined by the publisher's hosting, not by this dropdown.

● Add Contact details (optional) and Click on 'Complete Purchase'
